

Understanding Saying Please and Thank You

Chapter 5: Saying Please and Thank You · Topic 1

Key Concept

We say 'Please' when we politely ask someone for something, like 'Please pass the water.' We say 'Thank You' when someone helps us or gives us something, to show we appreciate it.

Using polite words like these makes people feel respected and helps us build good relationships with others.

We should also say 'Sorry' when we make a mistake or accidentally hurt someone, which is another important polite word.

Practising polite words regularly, at home and outside, helps them become a natural habit that makes us pleasant to be around.

Quick Revision Notes

- 'Please' is used when politely asking for something.
- 'Thank You' is used to show appreciation for help.
- Polite words make people feel respected.
- Good manners help build good relationships.
- 'Sorry' is used when we make a mistake or hurt someone.
- 'Sorry' is another important polite word.
- Practising polite words makes them a natural habit.
- Being polite makes us pleasant to be around.

Practice Questions

- 1 Practice saying 'Please' when asking for something today.
- 2 Practice saying 'Thank You' when someone helps you.
- 3 List three situations where you can use these polite words.
- 4 Notice how people react when you use good manners.
- 5 Practice saying 'Sorry' the next time you make a small mistake.
- 6 Discuss with a friend why polite words matter.