

Chapter 9: The Story of the Blind Men - A Fable

Chapter 9: The Story of the Blind Men · Topic 1

Key Concept

The story of the blind men is a fable that teaches us about the importance of seeing things from different perspectives. It shows how people can have different ideas about the same thing based on their limited experience.

The story is set in a village where all the people are blind. They have never seen anything before.

One day, a group of people went to a well. They touched the wall and tried to guess what it was. Some said it was a wall, some said it was a rope, and some said it was a snake.

The story teaches us that we should not judge things based on our limited experience. We should try to see things from different perspectives and understand the whole picture.
