

Practising Making Greeting Cards

Chapter 6: Making Greeting Cards · Topic 2

Key Concept

A greeting card usually has a folded paper, a nice drawing or decoration on the front, and a message inside, like 'Happy Birthday' or 'Happy Diwali'.

We can decorate our card using colours, stickers, or simple paper cutouts to make it look special.

Thinking about who will receive the card helps us choose the right colours and message - a card for a friend might be colourful and fun, while a card for a grandparent might have a gentle, respectful message.

Giving a handmade card shows extra care and effort, which often makes it more special to the receiver than a store-bought card.

Quick Revision Notes

- A greeting card is used to wish someone.
- A card has a decoration on the front and a message inside.
- We can decorate cards with colours and cutouts.
- Cards can be made for birthdays or festivals.
- Thinking about the receiver helps us choose the right design.
- A card for a friend can be colourful and fun.
- A handmade card shows extra care and effort.
- Handmade cards can feel more special than store-bought ones.

Practice Questions

- 1 Make a birthday greeting card for a friend.
- 2 Make a festival card and write a message inside.
- 3 Decorate your card with colours or stickers.
- 4 Give your handmade card to someone special.
- 5 Design two cards - one for a friend and one for a grandparent.
- 6 Explain why you chose the colours and message for your card.