

Reading and Understanding 'Fun with Pictures'

Chapter 6: Fun with Pictures · Topic 1

Key Concept

By looking closely at a picture, we can name what we see, like a ball, a tree, a bird, or a child playing. Pictures help us connect words with real objects and actions.

Talking about a picture also helps us practice making full sentences, like 'The bird is flying' or 'The ball is red'.

We can also ask questions about a picture, like 'What is the boy doing?' or 'How many birds are there?', which helps build our curiosity and observation skills.

Sharing what we notice in a picture with a friend or teacher helps us practice speaking clearly and listening to others' ideas too.

Quick Revision Notes

- Pictures help us name objects, animals and actions.
- Looking closely at a picture builds our vocabulary.
- We can describe a picture using full sentences.
- Talking about pictures improves our speaking skills.
- We can ask questions about a picture.
- Questions build curiosity and observation skills.
- Sharing observations helps us practice speaking and listening.
- Full sentences describe more than a single word.

Practice Questions

- 1 Look at a picture in a book and name five things you see.
- 2 Make a full sentence describing a picture.
- 3 Draw your own picture and name the objects in it.
- 4 Describe a picture to a friend or family member.
- 5 Ask a question about a picture and answer it yourself.
- 6 Listen to a friend describe a picture and repeat what they said.